One of the Associate Justices of the Court.

Vol. 4, 5, 6, Fro. Siper vol.

"Judge Curtis is rendering to the profession a service of very great importance in bringing within our reach the law of these numerous ame expersive volumes. Let me show by an examined how he does this. In his first volume the first case I examined how he does this. In his first volume the interesting case of Graves et alv. the B. M. Insurance Co., which determines the property of the firm occupies less than six pags. In the second volume of Cranch twhose reports are far less voluminant at diffuse than those of his successors) his case occupies twenty-six pages. Hut Judge Curtis retains everything said by the Supreme Court, who speak by Marshall, C. J., and everything four everything law experience on the tree results and eperation of the case than in the original report. The same thing will I think, be found to be literally true in reference to all the count ms of these volumes. His condensation of the longer which countries of these volumes. volume in the Euglish Language. Edited by J. Thomas, M. D., and T. Beidwin, assissed by several other gen-lemen.

The above work, (upon which over-five years' labor and research, with a large onliny of money, has been expended,) has not been published merely to supply the deficiencies of existing Gazetteers but to furnish a GEOGRAPHICAL DICTIONARY Which should be as comprehensive in its design, as perfect is its ormogement, and as complete and accurate in its execution as the BEST DICTIONARY OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE.

EFST DICTIONARY OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE.

Ameng the many claims to superiority which this work has over all others of the kind are the following:

1. It is a PRONOUNCING GAZETTEER, a feature as essential to the completeness of a Geographical Dictionary as to a lic ionary of the English Language.

2. It contains above 20 000 more Geographical Names than any other Gazetteer of the World. And the notices of all important places with also be found far more full and satisfactory than in any other similar work.

3. In regard to ACCURACY and RECENTNESS of information it will be found incomparably superior to every other. We might have hurried this work through the press to forestall others or musched ong after our was in progress, but we could not be tempted to wave a migh feature of excellence requiring time for its perfection.
